For an Individual Titling a Vehicle in Virginia

To title a vehicle in Virginia, you must show one proof of address. If you have a Virginia driver's license, learner's permit, ID card or title, you will not be required to show proof of address.

You are not required to be a Virginia resident to title a vehicle in Virginia: however, you must show proof of your residential address. The name and address on the document must be the same as it appears on the application for title – a post office box or business address is not acceptable. Refer to the list below for documents you can use as proof of address.

All documents must be originals and may be subject to verification with the issuing entity prior to acceptance. Photocopies will not be accepted. DMV may require additional documents. DMV will not accept a document when there is reason to believe it has been altered, fraudulently obtained or is fake, forged, counterfeit or otherwise non-genuine or illegitimate. Foreign documents will be accepted only if accompanied by an English translation from an embassy or accredited school of foreign language.

Falsifying information on an application is a criminal offense.

The acceptable documents listed in this publication may change without prior notice.

Note: Additional proof of identity maybe required for prevention of duplicate records.
